From the creation to the exploitation of this wealth, Cofomo's data experts master the latter in a spirit of performance and efficiency for the evolution of your company. Cofomo offers unparalleled support in the design, implementation and operation of related systems.

What Cofomo can do for you

Enterprise data management and analytics (EDMA) plays an essential role in how organizations precisely define, easily integrate, and effectively retrieve data for both internal applications and external dissemination. Knowledge and control of enterprise data is a critical issue in the evolution and rapid integration of data.

This means that the ability to focus on the creation of accurate, consistent, timely, and transparent data requires precision, granularity, and meaning, especially given the ever-increasing volume of data.

To be effective, knowledge is required to know how the data is integrated into business applications, as well as how it's passed from one business process to another.

EDMA is required to address environments where users within organizations independently source, model, manage and store data. Mastering data integration using various accelerators as well as virtualization accelerates the time it takes to make your business-critical information available to respond quickly to changes in the marketplace.

That's where we come in.
